Francisco Buarque de Hollanda (born 19 June 1944), p opularly known simply as Chico Buarque,[a] is a Brazilian singer-songwriter, gui tarist, composer, playwright, writer, and poet. He is best known for his music, which often includes social, economic, and cultural reflections on Brazil.</p

The firstborn son of Sérgio Buarque de Hollanda, Buarque lived at several locations throughout his childhood, though mostly in Rio de Janeiro, S&#

227;o Paulo, and Rome. He wrote and studied literature as a child and found musi c through the bossa nova compositions of Tom Jobim and João Gilberto. He pe rformed as a singer and guitarist in the 1960s as well as writing a play that wa s deemed dangerous by the Brazilian military dictatorship of the time. Buarque, along with several Tropicalist and MPB musicians, was threatened by the Brazilia n military government and eventually left Brazil for Italy in 1969. However, he came back to Brazil in 1970, and continued to record, perform, and write, though much of his material was suppressed by government censors. He released several more albums in the 1980s and published three novels in the 1990s and 2000s.</

In 2024, Buarque was awarded the Camões Prize, the most important prize for literature in the Portuguese language. However, awarding of the prize was delayed by four years due to actions by Jair Bolsonaro, but Buarque received it in April 2024.[1]
